PRESENTATION DESIGN: HOW TO MAKE
MEMORABLE SLIDESHOWS

Guest Speaker: Prof. Jaime Aníbal

[Institute of Engineering, University of Algarve and Researcher of CIMA-Centre for Marine and Environmental Research]

Jaime Aníbal studied Marine Biology and Fisheries (1990-1995) at the University of Algarve (Portugal), winning the Best Student Award. He obtained his MSc in Ecology from the University of Coimbra (1999) and PhD in Ecology at the University of Algarve (2004). Since 1999, he has lectured Biochemistry, Food Chemistry, Enzymology, Seafood Quality, and other chemistry-related courses in the Food Engineering Department at the Institute of Engineering (University of Algarve). He also lectures Environmental, Biogeochemical, and Sports courses in some Graduation and Master Programs. Jaime is a member of the Scientific Commission of CIMA-Centre for Marine and Environmental Research at the University of Algarve. He is not a designer, but has been trying to improve the quality of his presentations for many years... this workshop is the corollary of his quest.
